THE GREAT GETAWAY

Butler County Community College is the setting for "The Great Getaway."

"The Great Getaway" is a program devised by students aiding them in (1) making the "big break" from high school or (2) escaping their home town or country (and parents) and or (3) making the "great decision" whether to continue with their college education or to just get away permanently, and (4) preparing for the outside world with more educational "smarts."

Once the program was underway, students made various "mini-getaways." An example of a mini-getaway is that of male students frequently dashing by in their little uniforms which identify them as cross country squad runners.

Field trips in the name of higher learning also provided a form of getting away for students. The field trip to New Orleans taken by members of The Lantern staff is a good example of a really big getaway.

The Student Union is also a popular getaway spot. Male students are frequently seen en masse around the pinball machines. Their minds, far far away from academic matters, are transfixed on the small silver ball shooting up to the sound of bells, dings, dongs, and flashing lights.

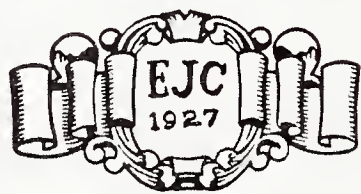

Fantasizing about escaping to a life of daring and thrilling escapades is another form of the mini-getaway.

Yes, the Great Getaway is possible.

50 years reviewed

Butler County Community College was born 50 years ago on September 5, 1927 as El Dorado Junior College. When the college opened, it was housed on the fourth floor of the old junior high building on Central Avenue. Its enrollment totalled 115 students — 23 sophomores and 92 freshmen — and the handful of faculty members divided its time between high school and college teaching assignments.

Today Butler County Community College is spread over an 80 acre campus containing 12 buildings located at the southwest edge of El Dorado. Enrollment grew as well as the campus. Today, BCCC's enrollment numbers around 1,800 and its faculty nearly 60.

From 1927 to 1964, the college grew to an enrollment of approximately 400 students. EJC was operating in an abandoned grade school building under the direction of the Board of Education. From the mid 1930's to 1956, El Dorado Junior College shared the El Dorado High School Building at 500 West Central which is now the junior high school. In the summer of 1956, junior college classes were moved to the remodeled and vacated Jefferson Elementary building at 1000 West First to provide a "more collegiate atmosphere." Laboratory and physical education classes were still held at the high school.

In the fall of 1963, the first board was appointed and the new junior college district of Butler County was in operation. Edwin J. Walbourn, former dean, was appointed president.

A successful bond issue in 1964 authorized $1,998,000 for construction of the new campus. A federal appropriation of $525,446 was added in 1965. Butler County Community Junior College was ready to go.

Enrollment grew, first to 700, then 900, then past 1,000. In October 1966, Gov. William Avery spoke in an address of dedication officially opening the new campus at a public open house attended by almost 8,000 persons. BCCJC was the first county community college in the state.

The first "Grizzly Growl," the college yearbook published in the spring of 1928 carried on its dedication page this tribute: "To those far-seeing, unselfish citizens of El Dorado who caught the vision of the need for higher education, and gave to Butler County the El Dorado Junior College."

Today is a far cry from those days of beginning 50 years ago.

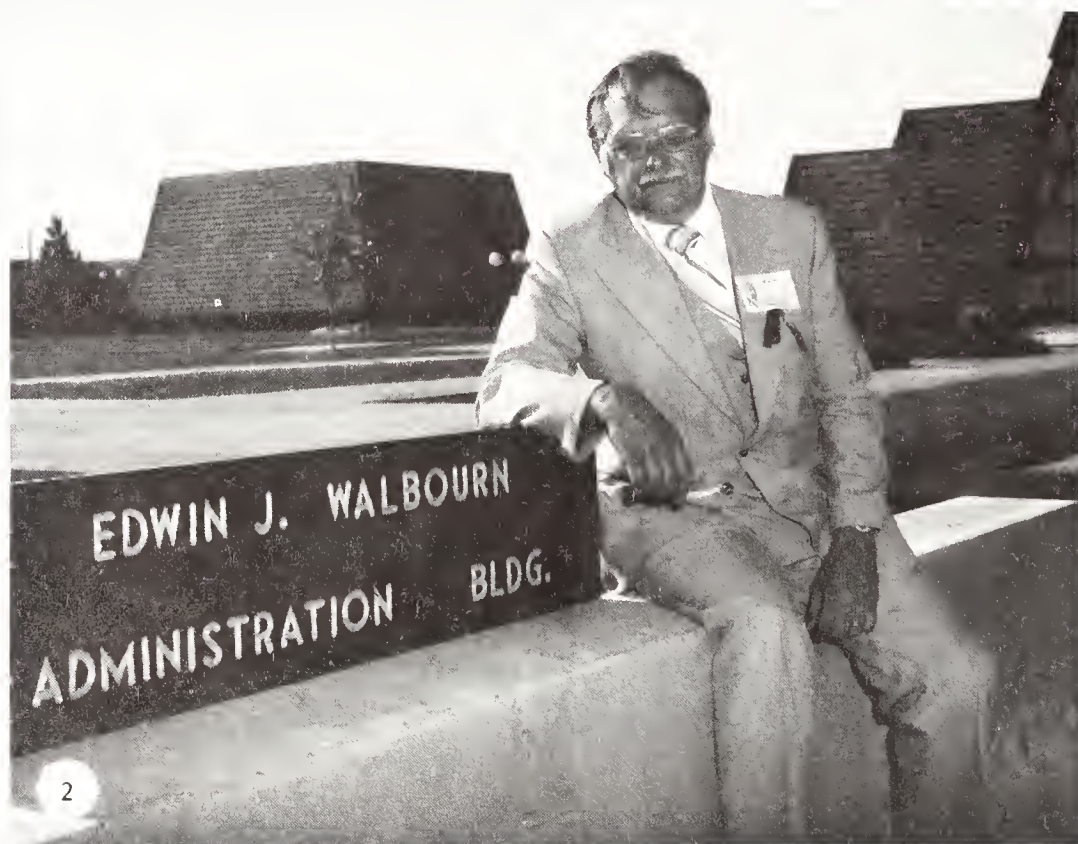

Anniversary observed

Butler County Community College began its three day 50th anniversary celebration on September 23 with an anniversary dance for all BCCC students.

A parade of Butler County high school band members continued the celebration September 24 marching from downtown to the football stadium, the site of the anniversary football game between the Grizzlies and the Fort Scott Greyhounds. BCCC's defeat only slightly dampened the festivities.

September 25 was designated Alumni Day and included a special program to dedicate the campus administration building to Edwin J. Walbourn Jr., first president of the college. Other past deans and officials were honored in the auditorium.

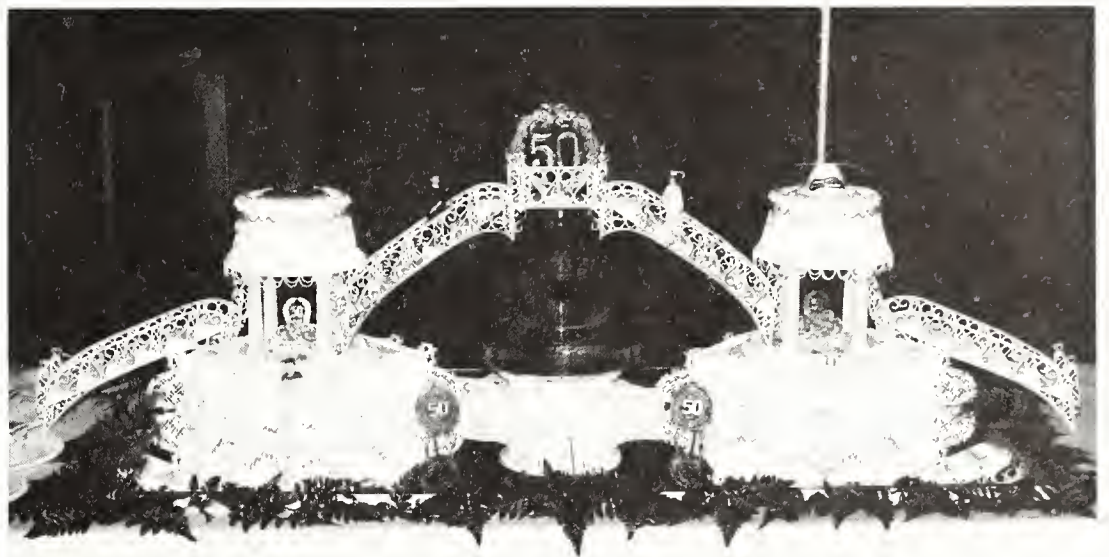

1. MRS. HERSCHEL CORNWELL, wife of El Dorado Jr. College's first basketball coach unfolds some history to Lorenzo Anderson, student at BCCC. 2. Edwin J. STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Some students emerge immediately as leaders in student activities. Other students join in.

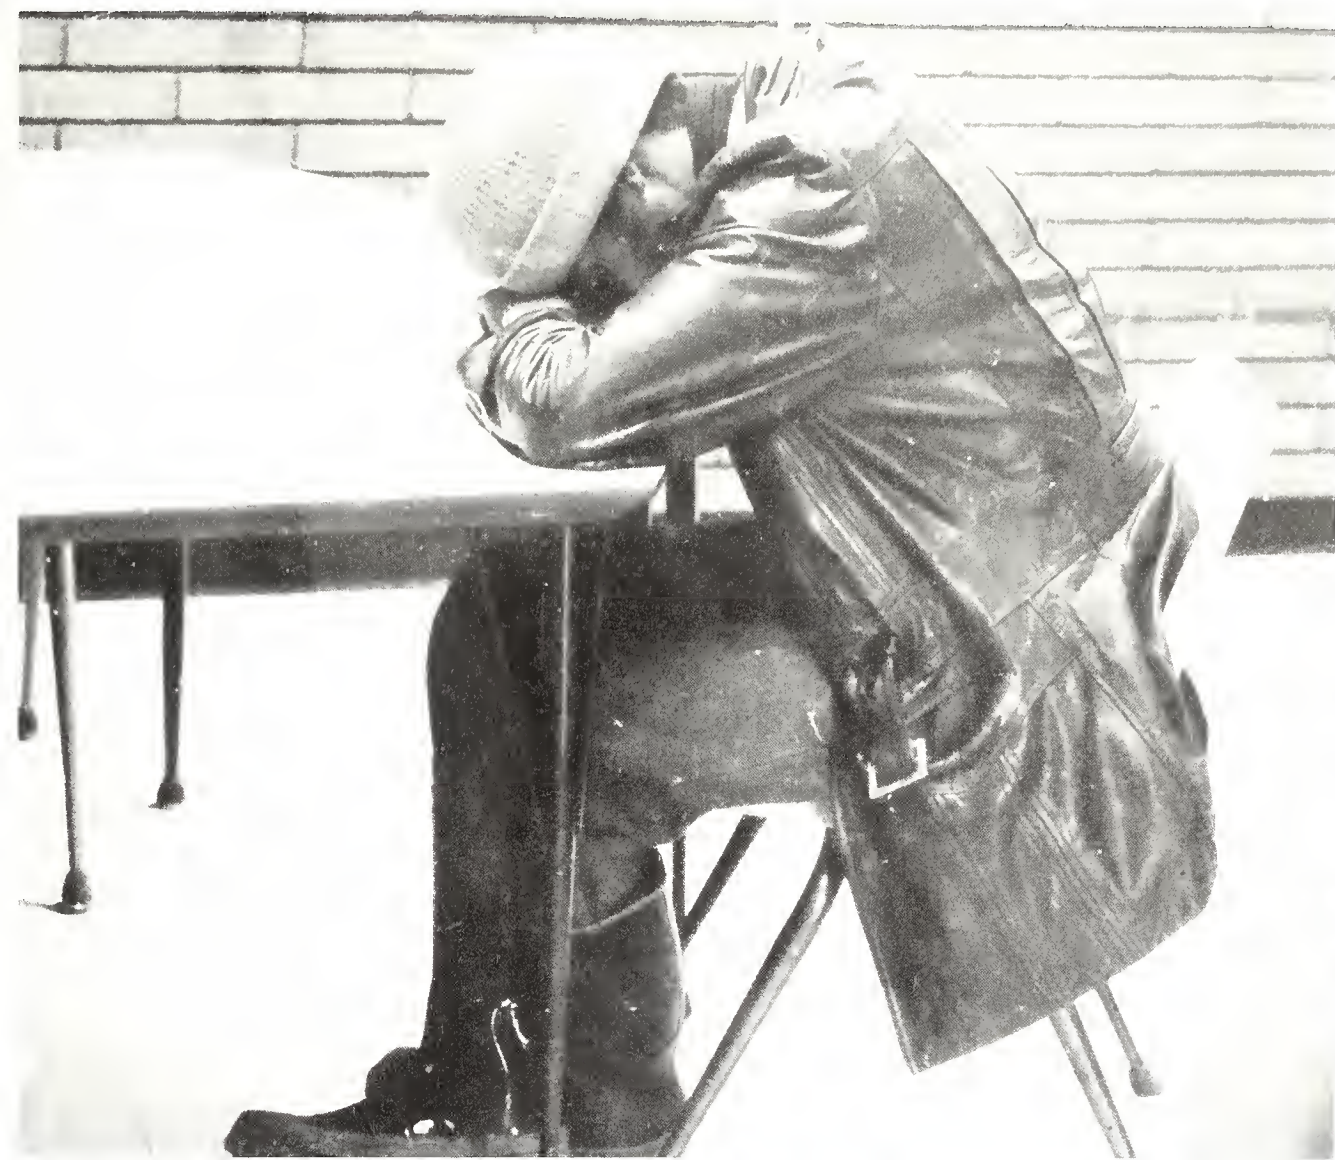

When students are involved, originality is never lacking when it comes to activities guaranteed to combat classroom boredom by helping students to “getaway.”

Students on this page created a new activity when in a nostalgic mood they “robbed” a long-closed county bank in gangland fashion reminiscent of the thirties.

Yes, they got away.

Campus . . . work and play

Campus talent abounds

BCCC was the scene of some very unusual and wierd activities this year. Among these unusual activities were the "Pie Spirit" contest, the "Bong Show," and "Almost Anything Goes." All these activities were a part of the homecoming festivities to generate spirit.

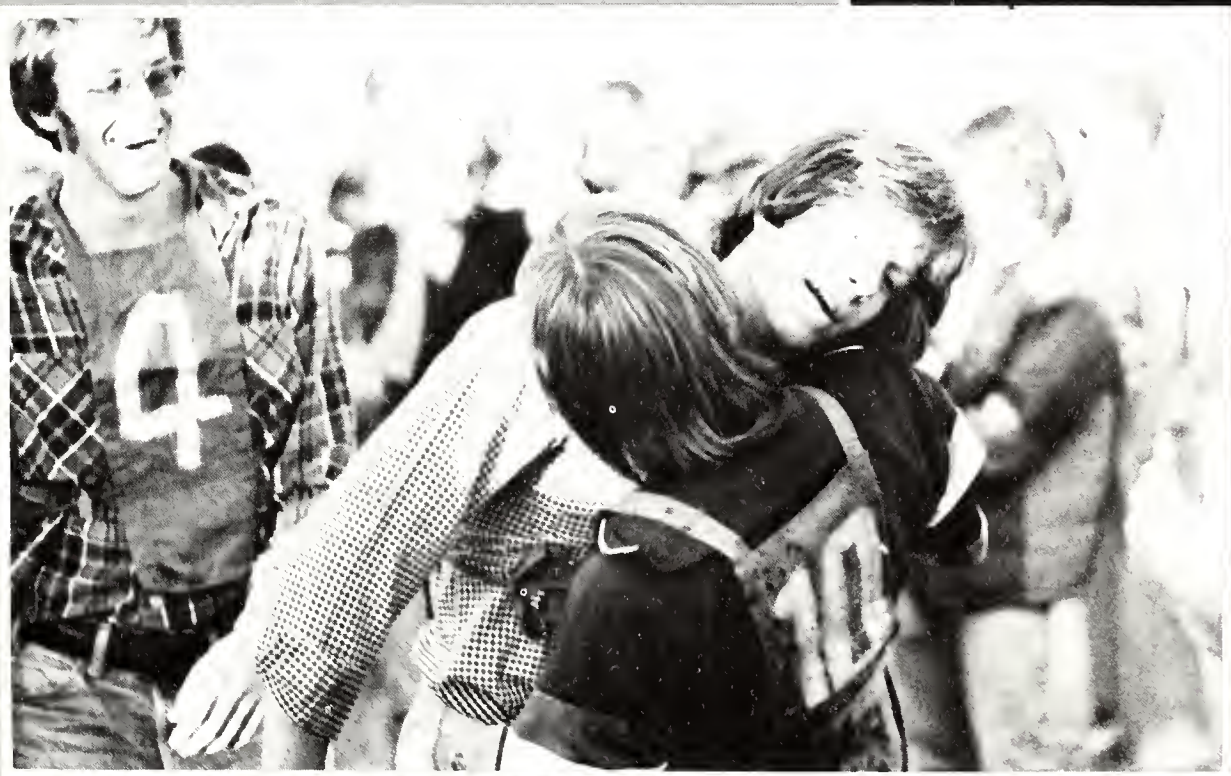

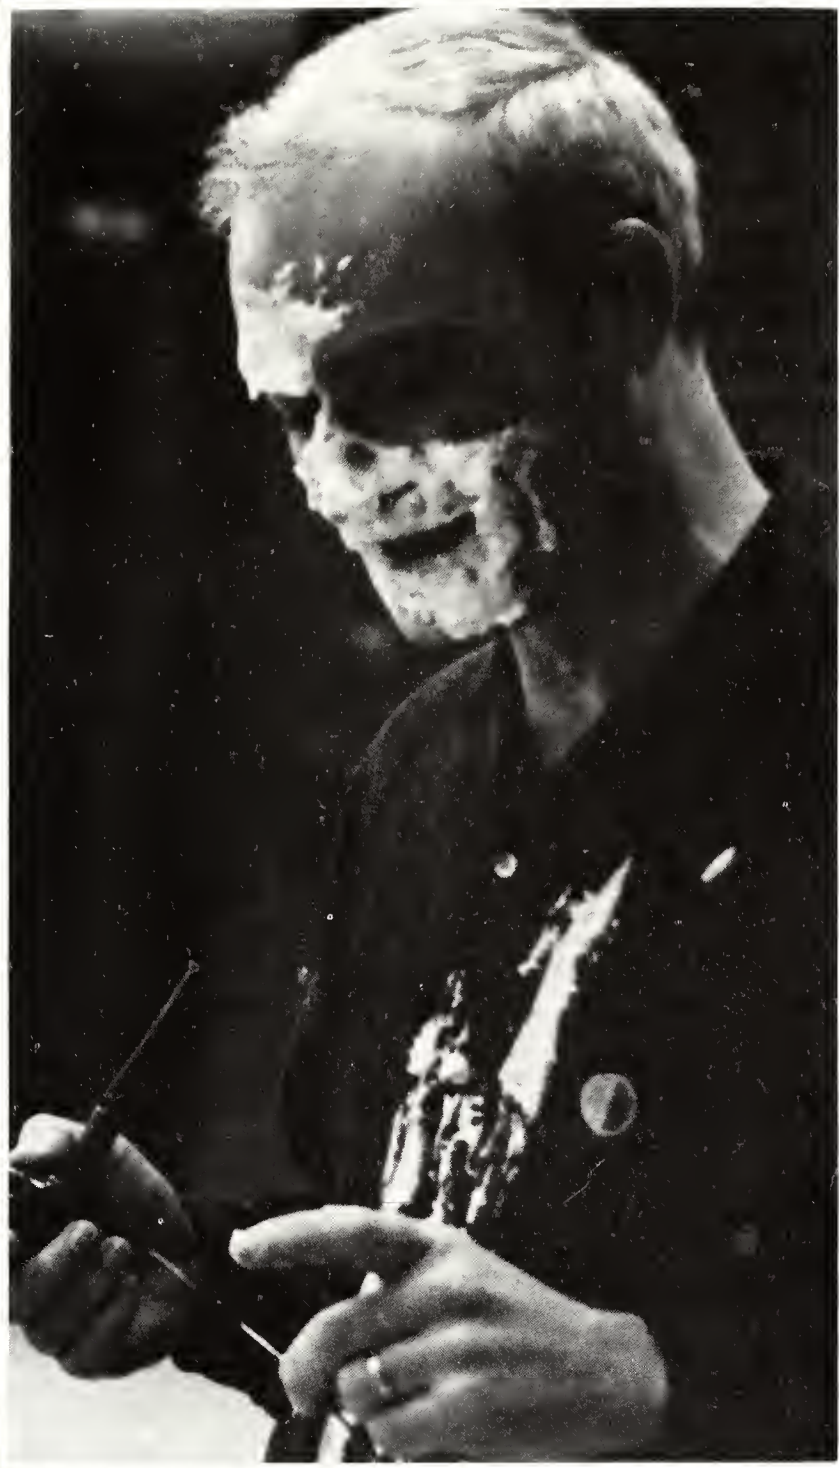

A Student's dream was the Pie Spirit contest. Any student who wished any other student, teacher or administrator or be hit with a pie, filled a contract and if the contract was accepted, the "Hit Committee" took care of the hittee for the hitter.

The Bong Show could have been termed a talent show except for the obvious lack of talent in some of the acts.

Almost Anything Goes was a contest sponsored by the Student Activities Council for United Way.

PERFORMING THE BEST ACT in the "Bong Show" are Max and Kevin Hoyt playing the guitar and singing.

STRANGE HAPPENINGS abound on the campus when students decide to "make things happen." Carl Heinrich is the recipient of a pie in the face when a contract is placed on him. Above, Darrel Lucas, Mark Evans and Lorenzo Anderson compete in the skateboard race. Left, Mark Eddy and Mark Evans compete against the faculty in the "Anything Goes."

Drama is historical

BCCC's first theatrical production of the 1977 fall semester was "Abelard and Heloise." The play, written by Paul Millar, was a historical drama about two ill-fated lovers.

Don and Susan Gilliland played the lead parts as Peter and Heloise Abelard. Gilles De Vannes was portrayed by Bob Peterson. Lonnie Brown was cast as Fulbert, Heloise's uncle. Cindy Simon played the Abbess of Argentivil and Shannon Martin played Sister Godrick. Robert De Montboisier was played by Jim Price. Gay Thomas played the role of Denise, Abelard's sister. Gregg Woodall, who played Gilbert, wrote and performed the music.

Other actors and actresses were Gene Barclay, Linda Brown, Maurita Deines, Judd Eustice, John Hamm, Vickie Litchfield, James Marsh, Dwight Peterson, Dorothy Speer, Debbie Taylor, Craig Ussery, Jan Walters, Lonna Whaley, and Debbie Whitson.

"Abelard and Heloise," which was directed by Larry Patton, was BCCC's entry in the American College Theatre Festival which is produced by the American Theatre Association.

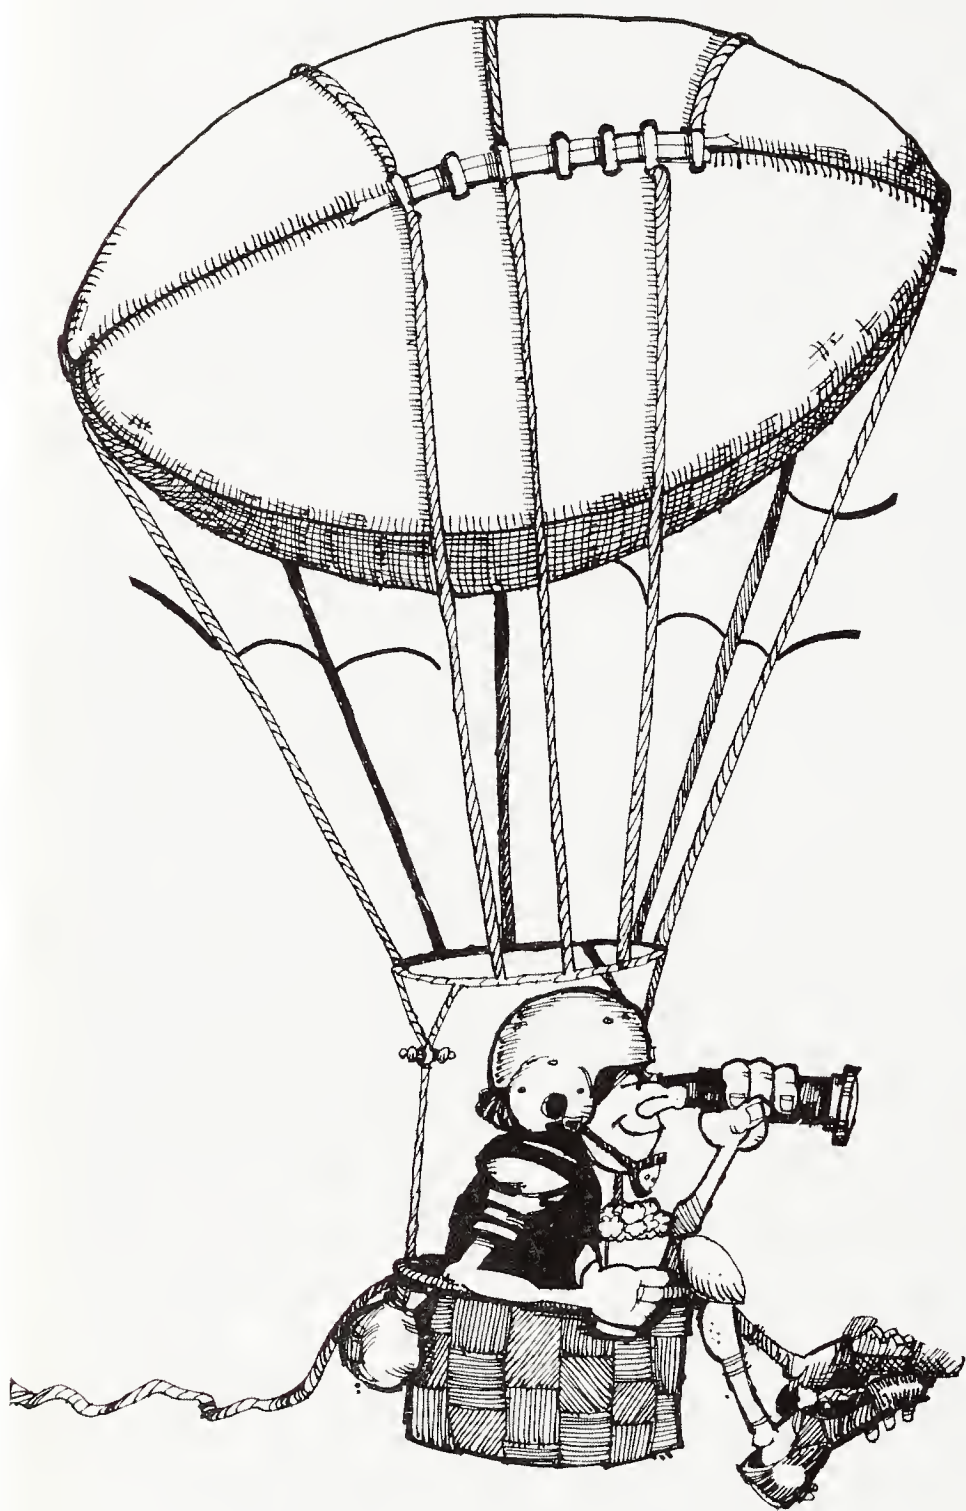

LARRY PATTON, instructor, prepares the set for the dramatic production. Don Gilliland portrays a lead role, Abelard.

On a cool November 5 evening, in a pre-game ceremony Susan Uhlenhop of Andover was crowned by Dr. Carl Heinrich as 1977 Football Homecoming Queen. Escorting her was Kris Ekart of Herington.

Miss Uhlenhop was chosen from a field of four candidates. She was nominated by the volleyball team. Her attendants included Judy Wedman of Leon, nominated by the golf team, and her escort, David Kohls of El Dorado; Cindy Simon of Rosalia, nominated by the cross country team, and her escort, Mark Eddy of Leawood; Patty Horsch of Wellington, nominated by the football team, and her escort, Bob Stallbaumer also of Wellington.

Other activities during the homecoming weekend included a pie spirit contract, the bong show, the mini-parade, a pre-game dinner for the football players, their parents and members of the booster club. The football game featured the Grizzlies and the Broncs of Garden City. The Grizzlies lost the game 35-7. The weekend ended with a dance in the student union. Music was provided by Spellbound of El Dorado.

Lively scenes greet fans

BRIT's Pom-ettes realized the Hainesboro Red team this year to help the cheerleaders and contribute for both the home and away games.

The Pom-ettes own their own uniforms and have a key-1982. They usually are provided with uniforms, participation in and have had on both home and away meals and they attend all home football games, basketball games and some away games.

An added attraction to the group is that they have a were two made yell leaders, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Anderson. The cheerleaders were only 1982 and the Pom-ettes were only 1982.

'Grizzly' takes toil

THE GRIZZLY, the college yearbook, is in its fiftieth year of publication and won top honors in junior college competition last year.

The book is a product of the yearbook production class members who work both semesters to publish the book.

Two field trips were taken this year by the class, one to Topeka to visit the yearbook production plant, and one to Wichita to visit a newspaper plant and a TV station.

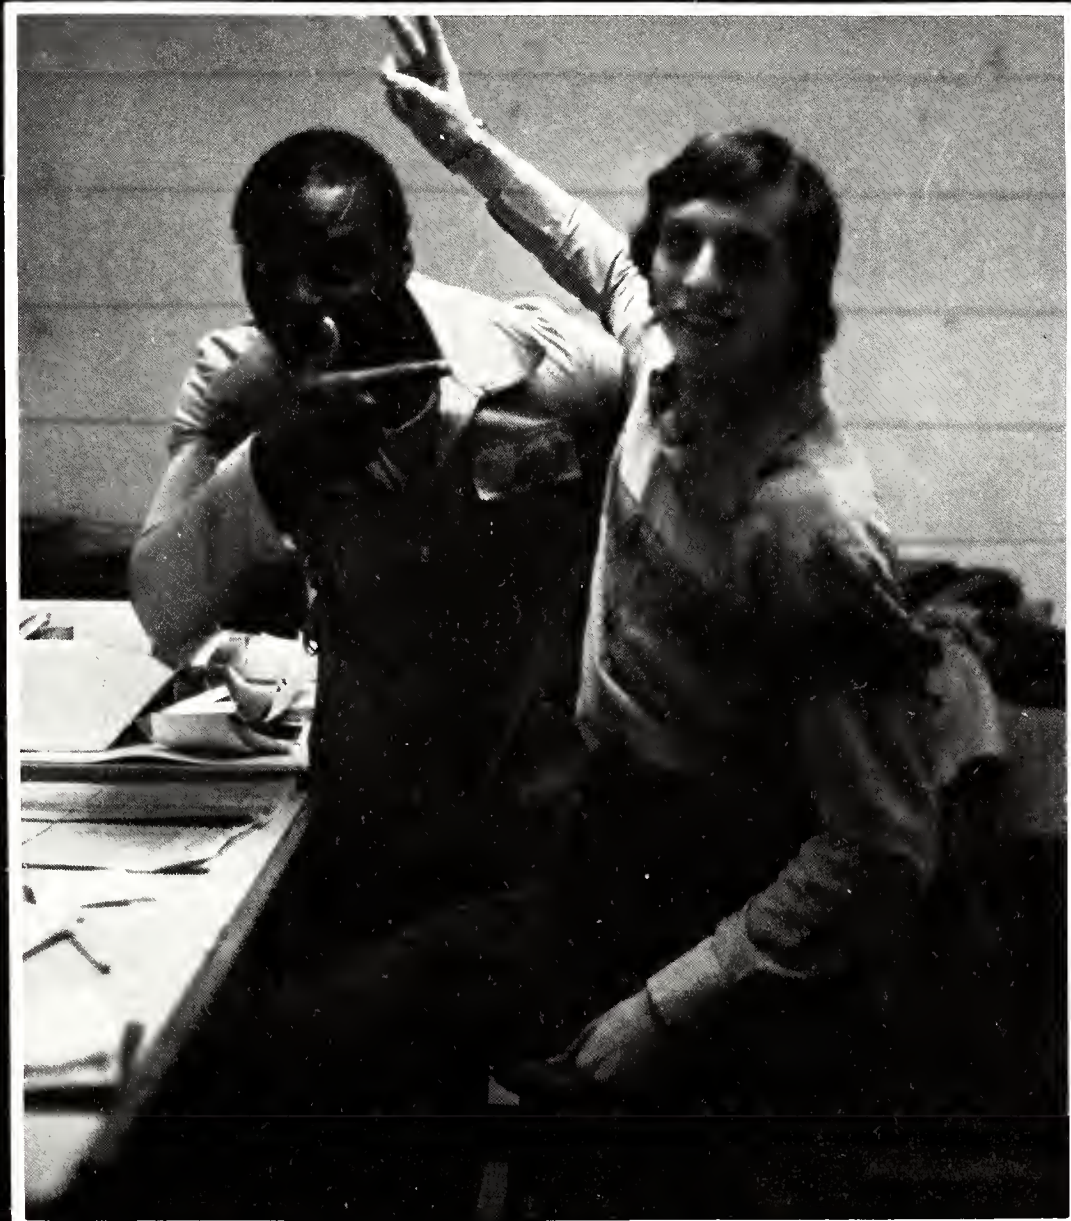

Eight staff members worked on the final product this semester assisted by a number of contributing photographers.

Putting out a yearbook includes such jobs as designing layouts, writing copy, and taking hundreds of photographs.

Teresa Stotts was the editor-in-chief assisted by staff members Kelly Edwards, Cindy Baer, Morie Ellis, and Matt Cannon both semesters. First semester Darrell Lucas, Belinda Miller, and Mark Eddy were on the staff. Jo Rogers was the advisor.

DARRELL LUCAS, photographer who shot the cover series photos for the yearbook, tries out a stogie. Jo Rogers and Bill Bidwell discuss the perils of journalism over a cup of coffee.

THE LANTERN is a student newspaper published weekly by the students of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. It is the largest student newspaper in the South and is one of the oldest in the country. It is published by the Student Body of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Student Union opens and closes regularly

"The only thing new in the Student Union this year is the new editions of the magazines," one student remarked. "Same old food, same old music, and the same old quiz shows on the controlled TV."

"We need to have the Union open and operating more hours for the dorm students to have something to do," was another remark. (The Student Union closes down every day from three until seven in the evening.)

In spite of the complaints the Snack Bar and the cafeteria thronged with students each day.

Students could be found "getting away from it all" in the snack bar any hour of the day or night that the bar is open, playing pool, ping pong, Foosball, or the pin ball machines.

In addition to the eating places, a book store, a TV lounge room, and the athletic offices were places of activity in the Union throughout the school year.

TABLE TENNIS in the Union is relaxation for Darryl Knowles, Marshall Parker and Loy Nickens make a noon meal in the cafeteria disappear. Judy Dickinson, Vickie Baldwin, Rose Robidou and friends register different reactions to the food.

SARA CUMMINGS, bookstore manager, looks over the latest issues of magazines available to students. Nellie Stephens, snack bar employee, serves up a hamburger, the staple of the establishment. Students eat, drink, and visit in the snack bar.

SAC promotes action

Student Activities Council organized and carried out many activities on campus. There were approximately ten members involved in the club. Selen Cawiezel was sponsor. First semester president was Doug Ludwig. Second semester Jeff Shipley took office. Other officers were Judy Wedman, vice-president; Sonja Sommers, treasurer; Sharon Ruddick, secretary; and Kelly Eslinger, KACC representative.

The various activities SAC sponsored included an "anything goes" contest, lectures, montly disco dances, and Homecoming. The Christmas dance provided 300 dollars in door prizes. The "Up With People" concert entertained a large Butler County crowd.

The spring semester ended with a campus picnic and Fiesta Park party.

ATHLETICS

Sports and sports fans take many forms at BCCC from the radical "want to enshrine" the athletes to the radical "shoot down the jocks" students.

Most students take the middle of the road position that sports are a good "getaway" from the academic grind.

Football season ends 3-7

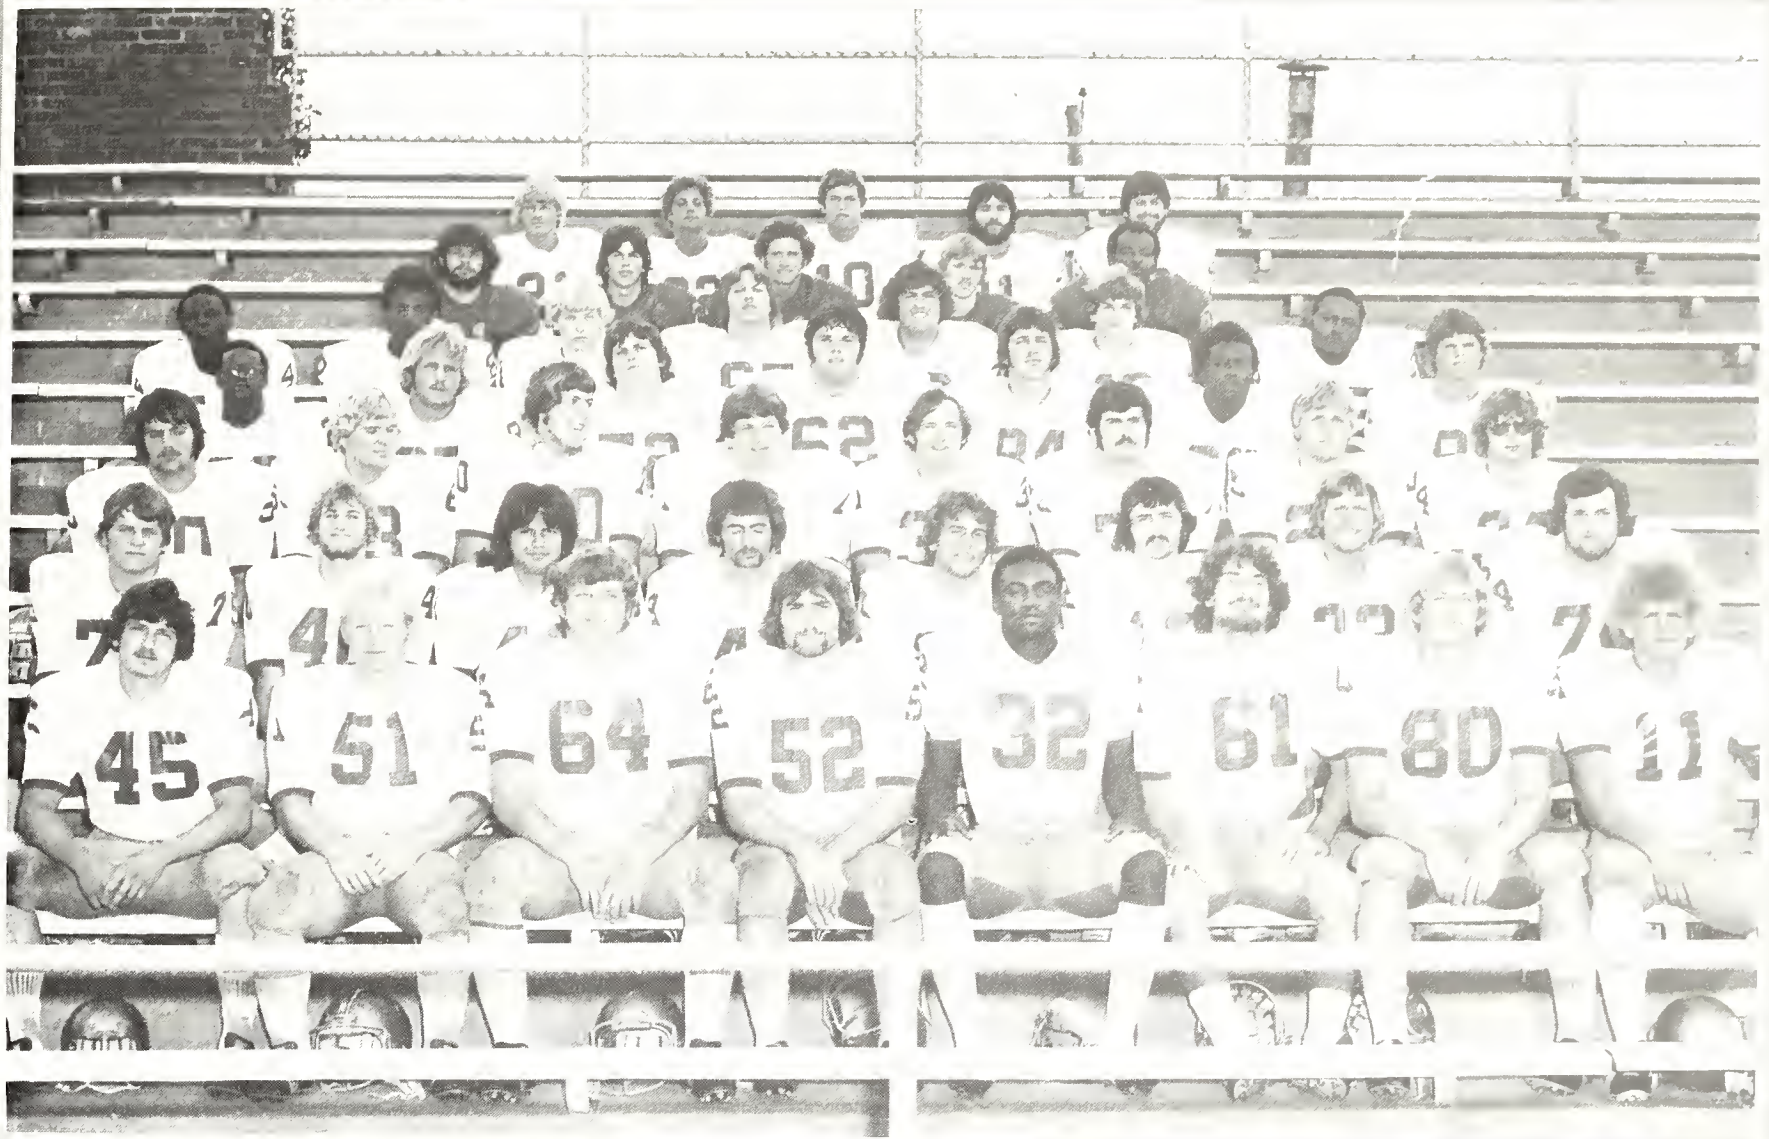

The football season for the team ended with a 3-7 record. The team played seven games, winning three and losing four. The season was marked by several key moments, including a hard-fought victory over the home team and a close loss to the away team. The players showed great effort and teamwork throughout the season.

Coach [Name] praised the team's resilience and growth. He noted that the team learned valuable lessons from both their wins and losses. The season concluded with a final game, leaving the team with a mixed but respectable record. The players and coaches are looking forward to the next season with renewed energy.

Dan Schleicher and John Lara, two of Butler County's top cross country runners, placed 115th and 138th respectively in the national cross country meet held in Tucson, Arizona on November 12.

The Grizzlies, who had consistently beat Haskell and Garden City during the regular session placed fourth in the regional meet behind Garden City, Hutchinson, and Haskell in the regionals as a team.

Garden City won the regionals followed by Hutchinson as they were the two teams to represent this region in the national meet. Dan Schleicher placed fifth and John Lara finished ninth in the regional to go to the national meet.

Basketball finishes 15-15

Butler County's Grizzly basketball team finished the season at .500 with a 15-15 overall record and a 6-6 record in the Western Division of the Jayhawk JUCO Conference.

Pratt, Dodge City, and Hutchinson all finished the season with 8-4 conference records while the Grizzlies were in a three way tie for fourth place in the conference with Barton County and Garden City all with 6-6 records. Seward County finished the season at the bottom of the pile with a 0-12 conference record.

The Grizzlies topped the century mark four times during the season losing a heartbreaker to Cowley County 100-106 in overtime after trailing by 26 points at halftime.

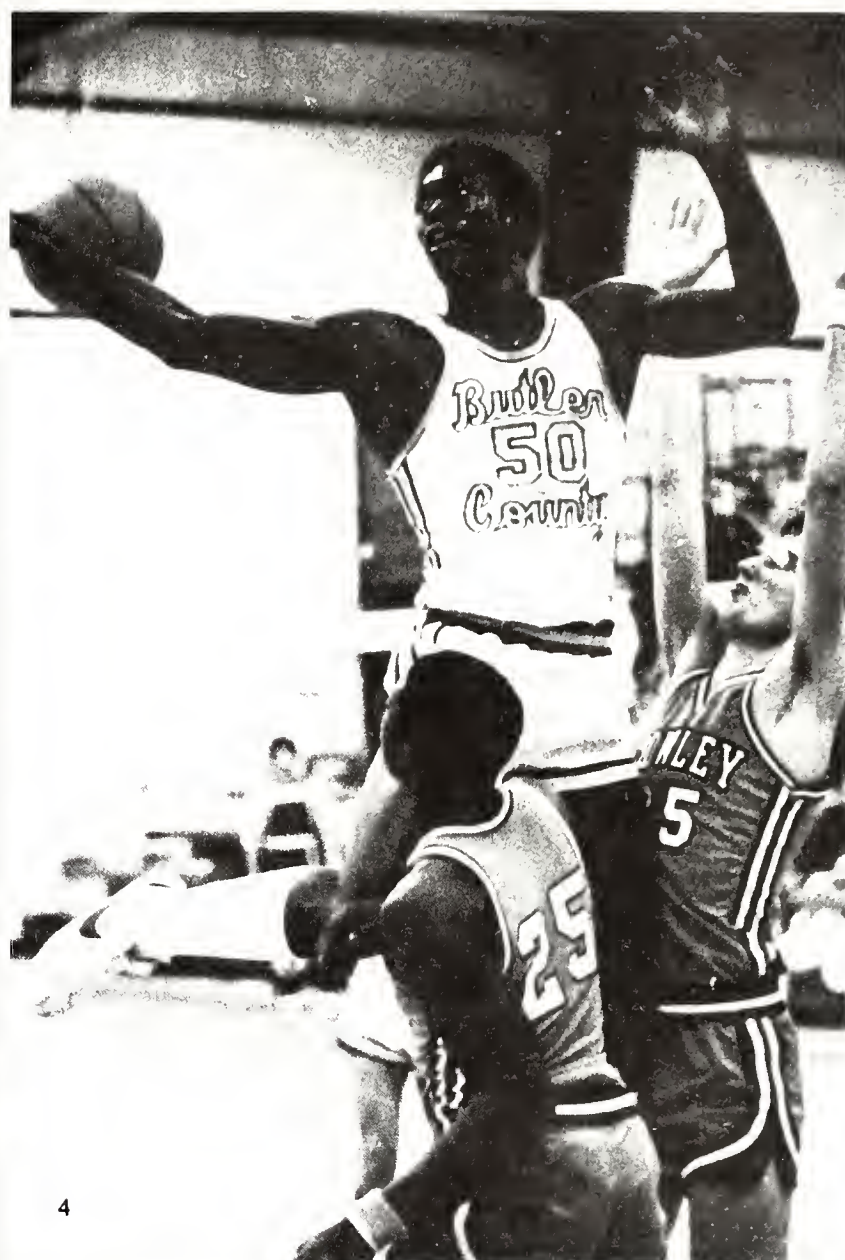

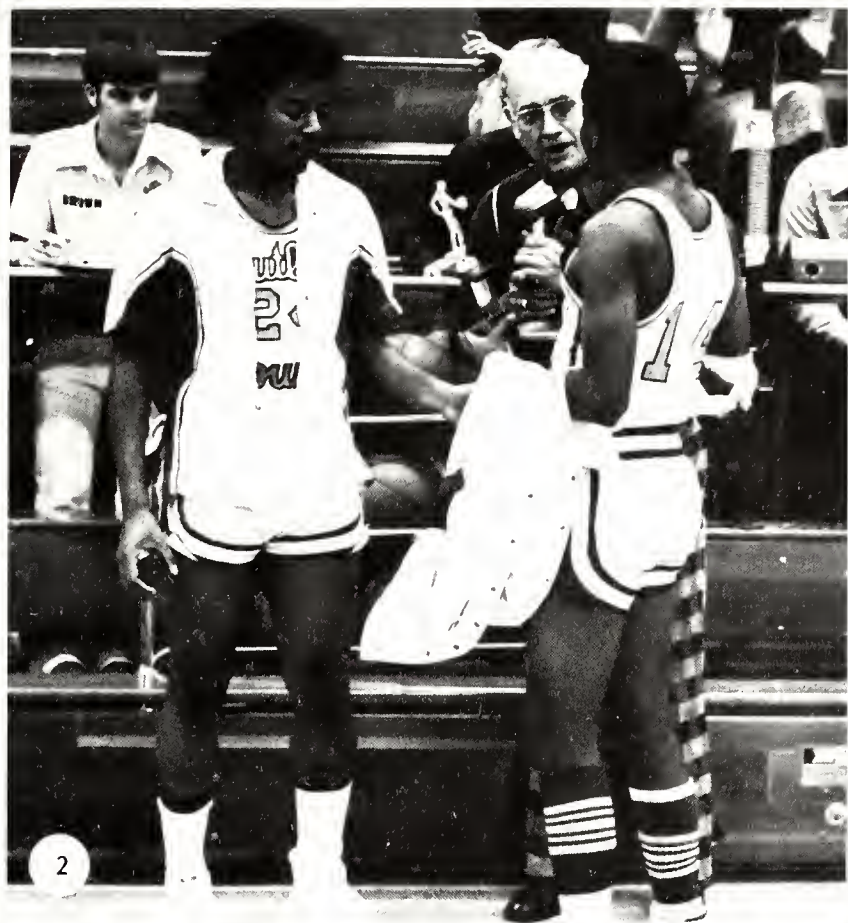

Butler County also topped the mark defeating Hesston 101-74, Allen County 105-83, and Barton County 105-97. The Grizzlies won the Butler County Classic in December when they upset Hesston and then Allen County in the finals.

The two wins in the Classic began a four game win streak for the Grizzlies, their longest of the season. Butler County later went on to lose three games in a row which was the longest losing streak for the Grizzlies.

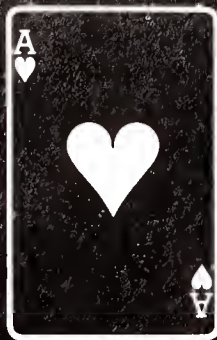

Butler County beat out Garden City and Barton County for a spot in the divisional playoffs only to be defeated the first night by Dodge City 93-73 at Dodge.

Women finish 11-10

The women's basketball team finished its regular season by defeating Pratt 56-41. This gave the women Grizzlies a 11-10 record for the regular season.

The women lost their first game in the regional playoff so that ended the season for Oregan City's lady athletes.

Just past mid-season the Grizzlies stood 7-6 in the ratings, so the trend was established early.

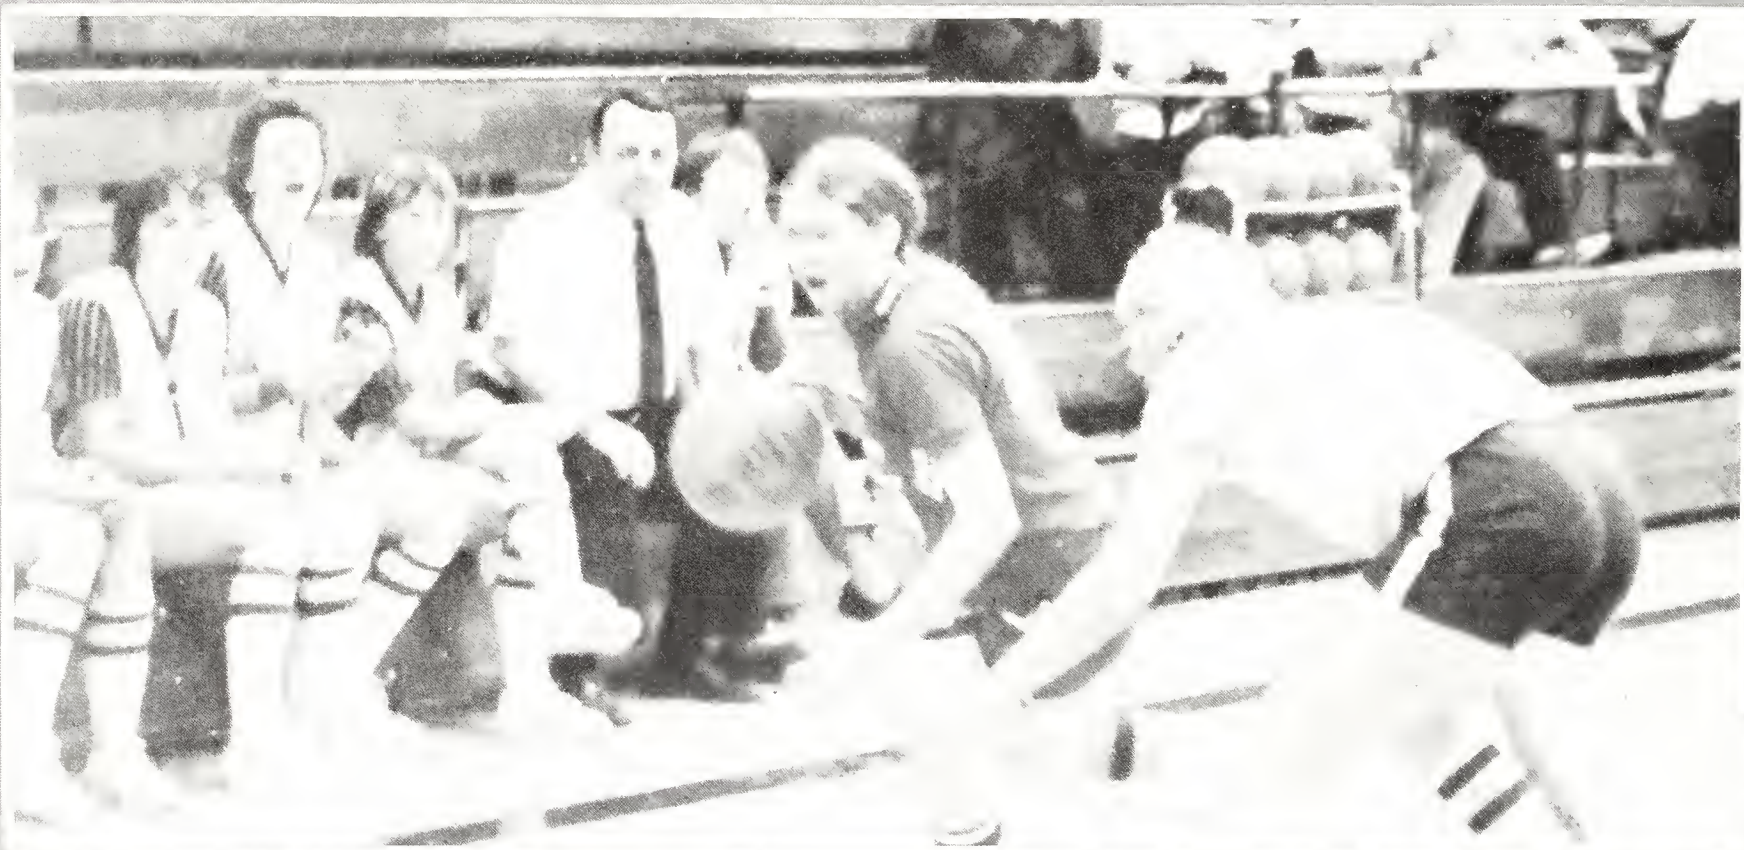

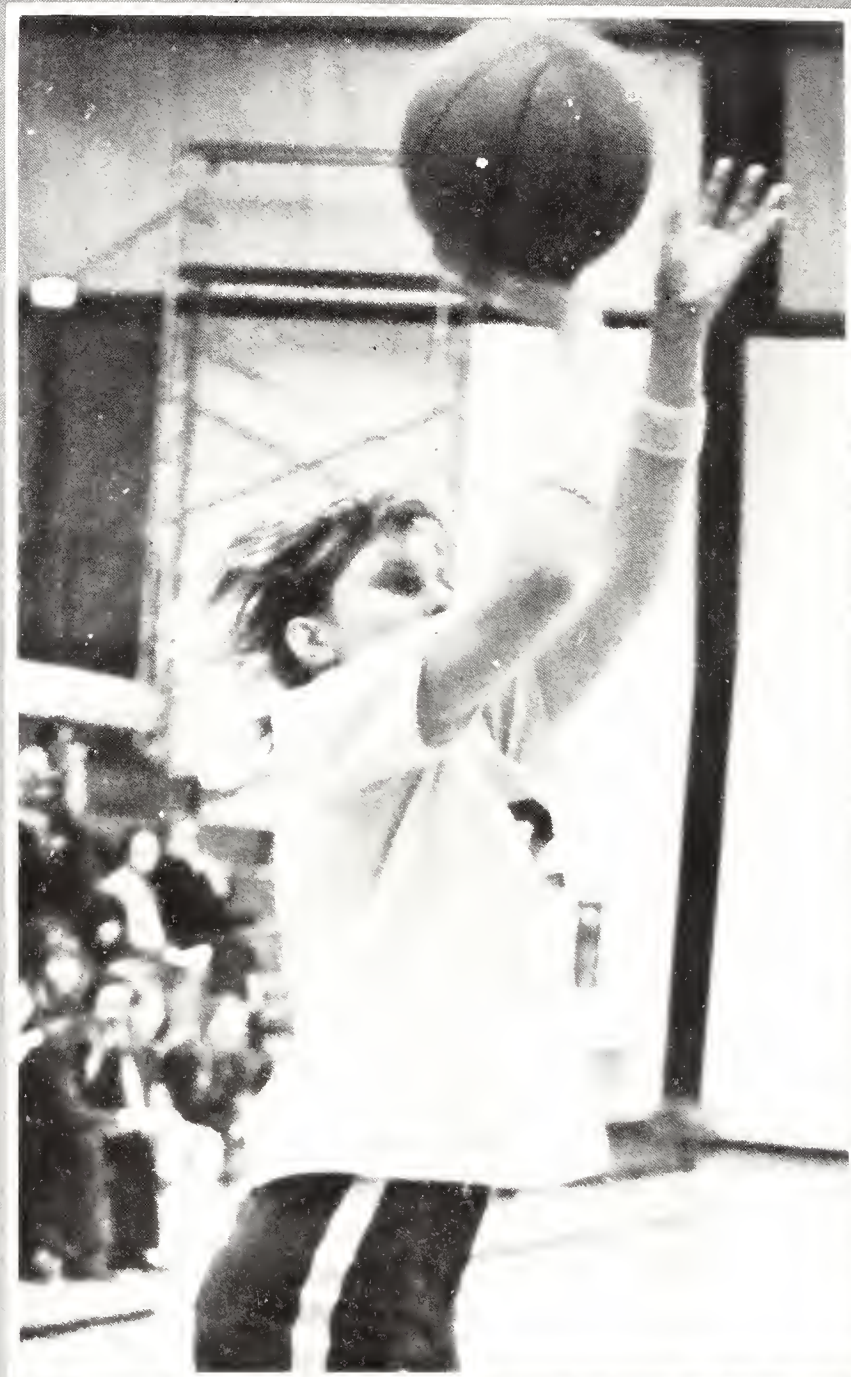

According to Coach Kohls, the women played well, sometimes exceptionally well, but they did not play good ball consistently for 40 minutes at a time.

The team members were split almost evenly between freshmen and sophomore players with the power spread rather evenly among all the players.

Coach Kohls, who is also Registrar at the college, was assisted by Selma Cavlezzel.

Box scores for all the games are given on page 43.

Delta Psi Omega has unique position

Delta Psi Omega, an honorary fraternity for drama students, is the only national fraternity on the campus.

Among the activities engaged in by the group this year were the initiation, the Homecoming parade, dances and shows.

Delta Psi Omega won first prize for its float entered in the Homecoming parade.

The fraternity sponsored some of the BCCC Theatre shows and activities including the twice a year actor's workshop.

Delta Psi Omega is a national fraternity for students in junior and community colleges. It is the oldest organization on the BCCC campus. Current membership includes 30 off campus members and six on campus members.

On campus members include Cindy Simon, president; Sharon Ruddick, secretary; and Bradley Beeson, Gene Barclay, Lonnie Brown, and Greg Woodall.

Larry Patton sponsors the group.

Nurses have tight schedule

BCCC's nursing program students spend two days per week in area hospitals in addition to their two days per week in lecture courses on the campus.

Nursing I students begin training in January, Nursing II takes place in the summer, Nursing III is held the following fall and Nursing IV, who are graduating students, is in the spring.

Nursing students have no special activities because of their tight schedules; however they do hold bake sales and the class votes on what is done with the money. Among the graduating Nursing IV students are officers Coeta Isom, president; Shelley Shipman, vice president; Nancy Calvery, secretary; Mary Triana, class representative.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Administrators and instructors who guide, advise, and instruct students sometimes live in a fantasy world which transports them far from the world of reality.

The school career counselor pictured on this page wonders what his answer should be when students ask him "What can I do that pays me the most money?"

Occupational investigation can prove interesting, if short-lived.

The 1977-78 year at BCCC was a successful year under the administration of President Carl Heinrich.

With the help of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Heinrich attempted to expand the programs offered at BCCC. He also set a goal to be more sensitive to the community and to grow with it.

As the President of BCCC Dr. Heinrich made sure the school was operating with the highest standards.

Trustees meet monthly

All major decisions concerning BCCC must be made by the Board of Trustees.

During the year the Board discussed such things as new programs, hiring of new faculty members, major purchases, and new additions to the campus.

A goal of the board this year was to expand the programs at BCCC. They also tried to be more sensitive and grow with the community.

The Board of Trustees met on the first Monday of every month. The members were elected by the voters of Butler County.

1. MR. EDWIN WALBOURN receives a plaque from Mr. James Hittle at the 50th anniversary ceremonies of BCCC. 2. The Board of Trustees members are, from left to right: Edward Jones, E. F. Adams, Sue Unger, James Hittle, chairman; Wayne Livingston, G. E. Kassebaum, and Carl Heinrich, president.

Administrators run the 'show'

The six administrators had varied, but equal, jobs. Each one was in charge of his or her own department.

As the Dean of Student Service William Cummins was in charge of all student activities.

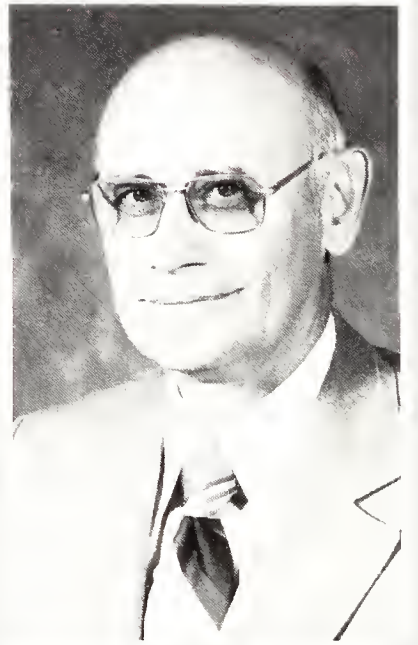

Lynda Gardner was the Director of Financial Affairs. She was overseer of in-coming and out-going monies.

Ev. Kohls oversaw admissions and transcripts of all students. He was the Director of Admissions and Records.

"Nubs" Nelson was the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

The Dean of Instruction, Ron Wilson, was in charge of all curriculum offered at BCCC. He also directed all faculty personnel.

Ted Wischropp was the Director of Continuing Education.

Faculty do their 'things'

Careers are long

The full-time faculty at Butler is a career faculty made up of members some of whose experience spans several decades.

Charles Fuller, instructor in biological science, is the senior member of the faculty arriving at the school in 1949.

Most of the instructors had several years teaching experience before arriving on the campus, and most have been on the BCCC staff for several years.

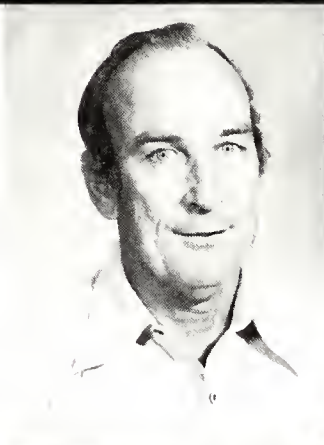

All of the instructors either have graduate degrees or are pursuing studies towards the graduate degree.

Snow presents work

Superintendent of grounds, "Nubs" Nelson and the maintenance department had a hard job this winter shoveling the snows which began in January and finally disappeared in March. They also saw to it that the buildings and grounds were kept in good shape and the campus automobiles were in working order.

The custodial services were coordinated by Roy Seymour. Duane Duber was the mechanic and plumber. Mike McWilliams and Harold Williams were the electricians. Charles Pennington was the carpenter. Bill Lantz, Sue Saltkill, and Herman Tisch were all custodians.

STUDENTS AND STUDENTS

Students at BCCC come from varied backgrounds, from the farms, from the villages, and from the big cities. They come from the United States and foreign countries.

Each student is considered to be a unique person and is treated as such at Butler.

Sophomores strong leaders

Even though the sophomores were small in number, they formed the nucleus of the newly organized Student Activities Council and also formed strong roles of leadership on the staff of the Lantern, of which seven of ten editors were sophomores. Class officers were not elected by the SAC.

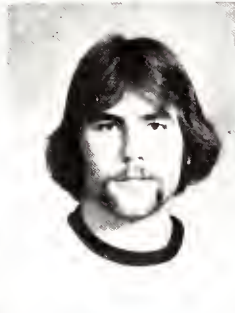

Sophomores were also active in other campus organizations such as homecoming festivities where participation and representation was strong among the sophomore ranks.

Although no officers are elected in the Campus Crusade for Christ organization, many members were sophomores. Star performers were also found in all areas of sports at BCCC. There was a total of 449 sophomores enrolled in the fall semester.

Special students study

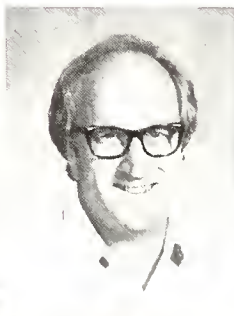

"Special students" are so called because the title encompasses a wide range of students who are neither freshmen or sophomores.

"Special students" may be students who are taking their first college course while still attending high school or they may be students who already have a degree.

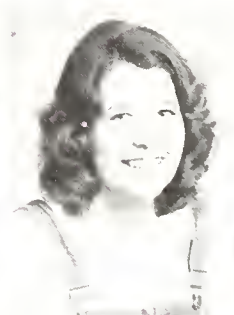

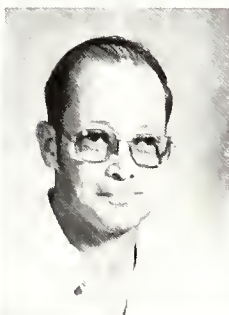

None of the special students are full-time students at BCCC.

More sophomores enroll

Second semester enabled many new students to experience the "great getaway" to BCCC.

This section features sophomores who did not attend BCCC first semester or whose photos did not appear in the earlier sophomore section of the book.

The twenty-nine new students brought the sophomore enrollment for the year to 478

Sophomores supported school activities throughout the school year.

New freshmen arrive second semester

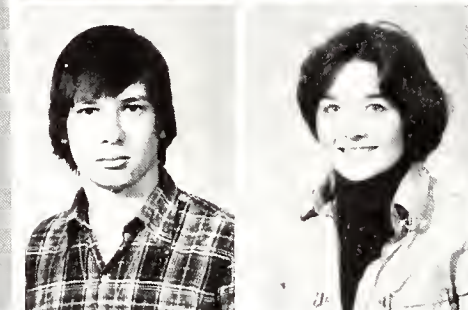

A total of 115 new freshmen at BCCC braved the icy elements in January to enroll for second semester. The coldest and snowiest January in 40 years caused classes to get off to a slow start.

Nevertheless, these new students along with the returning freshmen got launched into the "great get-away" in spite of 20 straight days of below freezing temperatures coupled with mild epidemics of flu and colds.

Freshmen who experienced their first semester of college or who did not appear in the earlier freshman section are pictured in this section.

'Special' students

Students other than degree-seeking students often enroll at BCCC. These persons range from high school students to students who already have obtained a two year or four year degree but who wish to explore other fields.

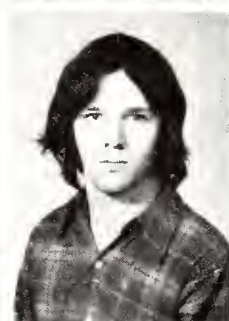

In this section special students are featured who were not on campus first semester or whose photos did not appear in an earlier section of this book.

Dorm home for 110

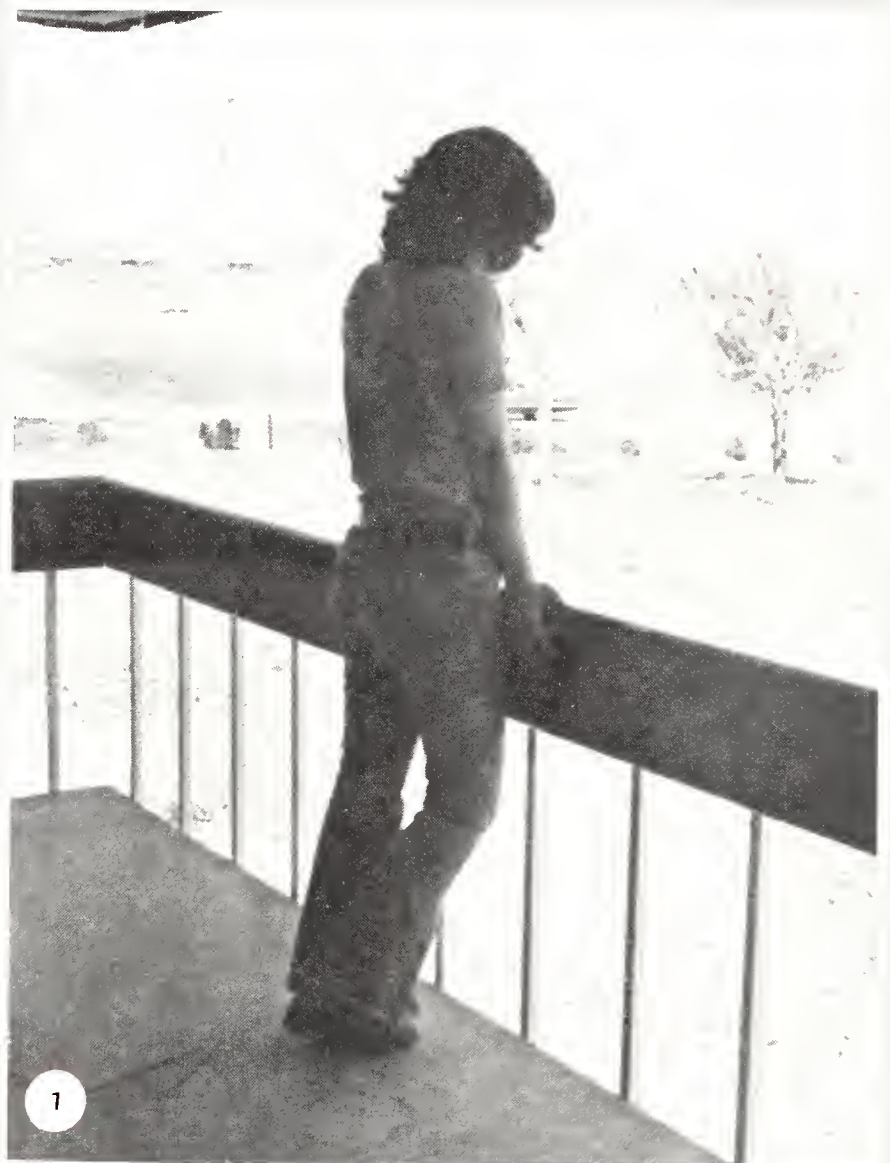

A dance kicked off the fall festivities for the men's and women's dormitory where 110 students made their home each semester.

Under the guidance of Nita Moriarty, house-mother, a Halloween costume party, a Christmas party, and several skating parties were held throughout the year for the entertainment of the residents.

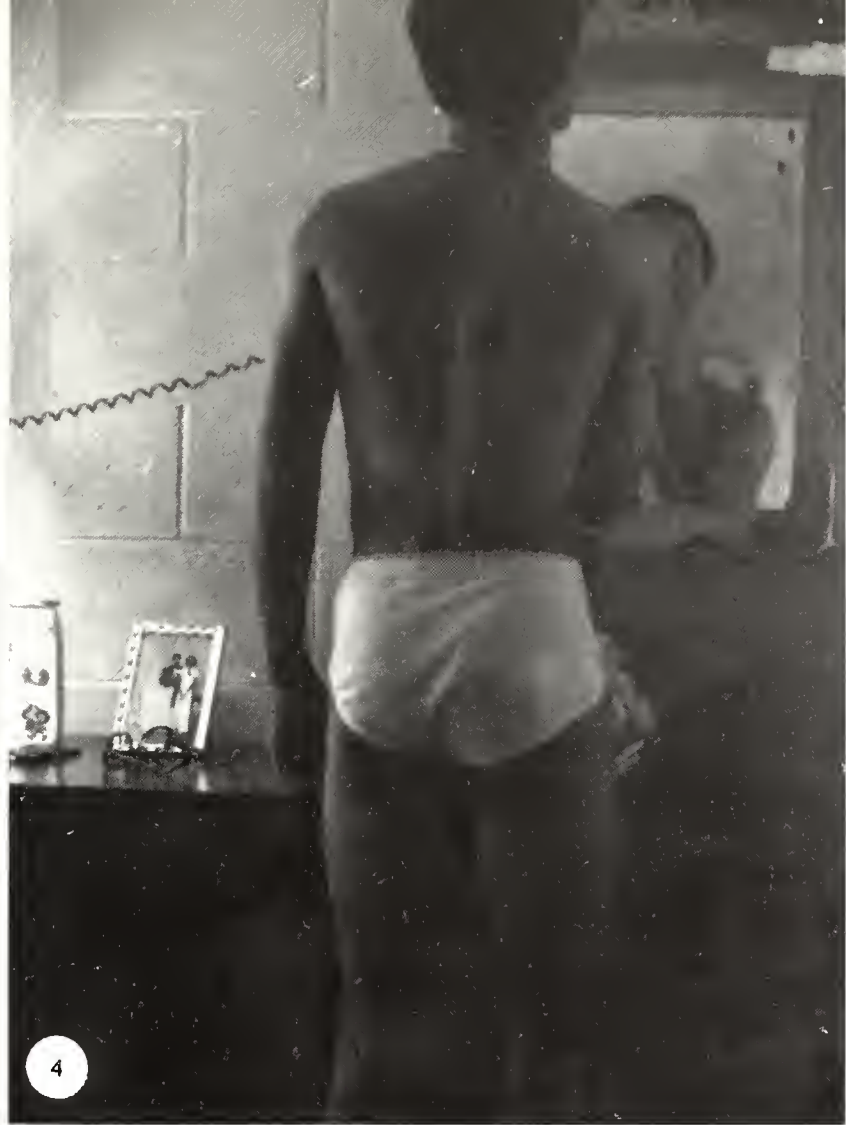

The spring semester ended with a swimming party held at Fiesta park for all dorm residents.

Conflicts over visitation hours for men and women in the opposite sex's rooms were resolved second semester when the hours were made later but not longer.

An ad hoc committee was formed during spring semester to try to get several dorm governing rules changed. Students voiced complaints about being confined to their rooms because of lack of recreational facilities and therefore they felt there should be more and longer visitation privileges between the sexes in order to "get away" from the confinement of their own four walls.

1. AN OUTDOORS look enhances a dorm resident. 2. Andrew Fields shows his style. 3. Cynthia Dennis finds time to settle down and study. 4. Pre-dawn hours find Carlos Cardwell up and shaving. 5. Tim Oshea finds an afternoon to relax in his dorm room. 6. Iranians making the great getaway to the dorm include L-R Shahryar Heydari, Hussein Gerami Hamid, Rezai Radmanesh, Ali Reza Yazdanifard, Hamid Baharimehr, Abdu Amir Aslanzadeh.

Home, sweet home

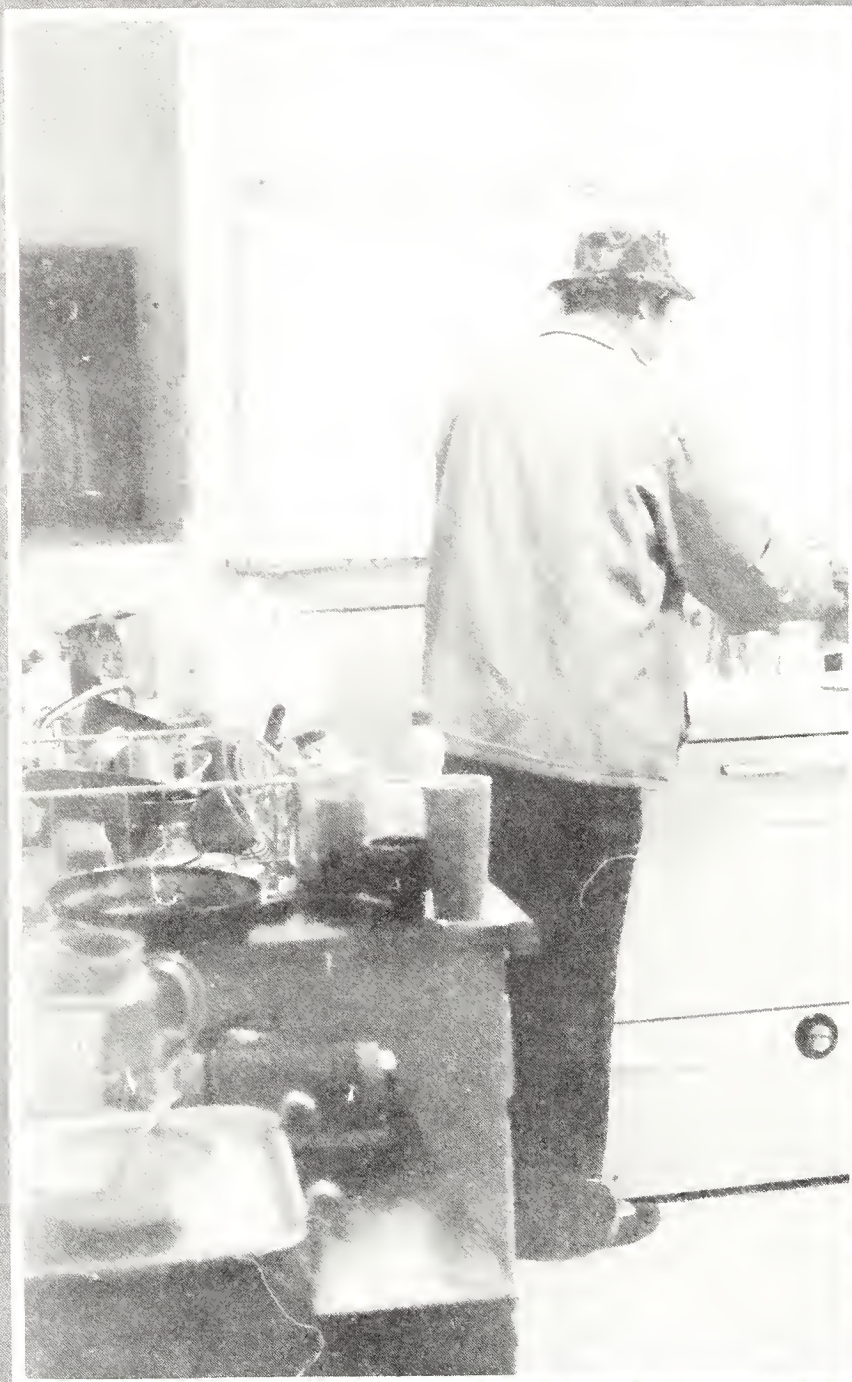

More budget-conscious live off campus than on campus since the opening of the first U.S. students. Out of many thousands who are on campus and who choose to rent for $100 a month, only 250 more live off campus and excitement about their situation is often the first sign of apartment life.

For many more, however, and rent apart from campus is a more serious matter just to get away from home and to be on their own. Oftentimes, however, the office manager from their arrangements.

Some of the more and a course in survival both come to reality when students first have a go at living in a small apartment house.

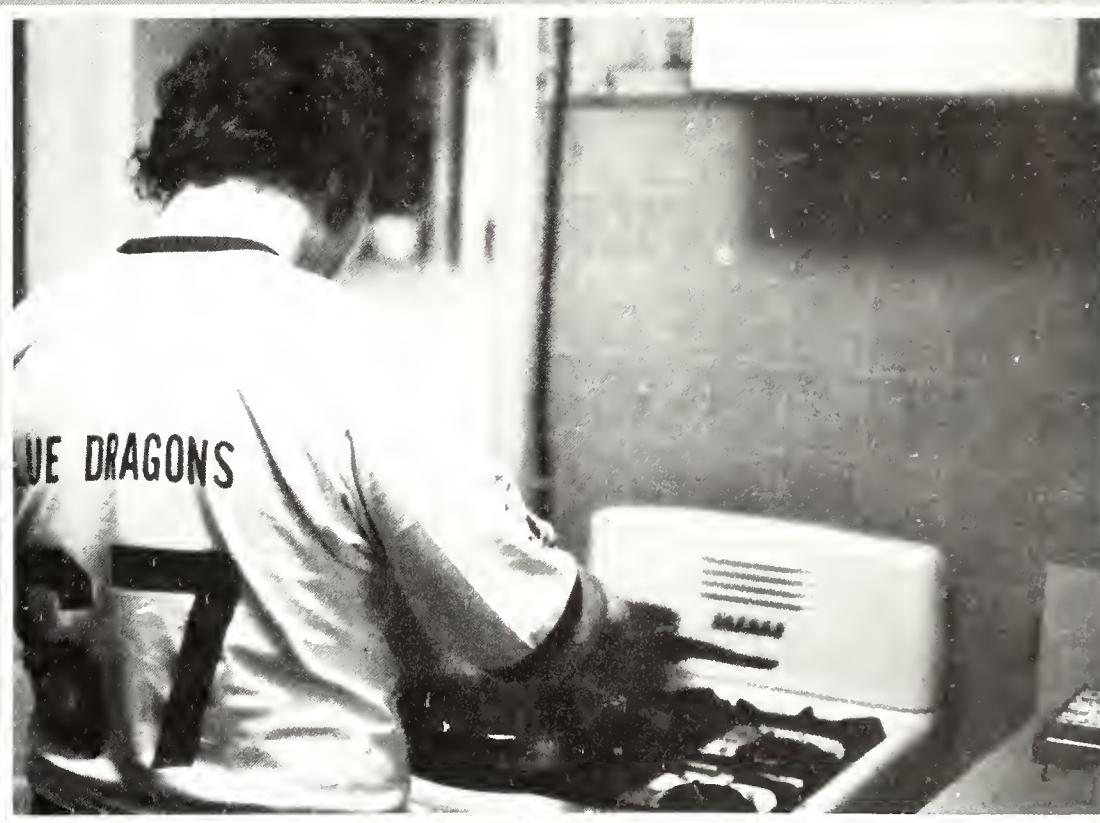

At first the students are puzzled by the housekeepers as they begin to appear and the first things appear with star-ling speed. The first lesson learned is that food, utilities, and even a few cents can cost money, great sums of money.

PATIO ENTERTAINING at this residence which houses 10 students is not quite like "Better Homes and Gardens" depicts it. A bachelor finds that dishwashing sometimes becomes a necessity.

BRIAN BISHOP, 27, left, and his wife find off-campus housing, commuting with an ancient bathtub that needs hot water and an antiquated stove and sink for cooking. Other odd necessities they must go in for being: decaying walls, posters, electric beer signs, and sweat socks.

As the sun slowly sets on the campus at BCCC, we find the stalwart fantasy stars still trying to rob a county bank, which has been closed for a decade or so, while their partners in crime make their getaway in a vintage bi-plane. Well, at least it's a break from class room humdrum.

The staff of THE GRIZZLY wishes to acknowledge its appreciation to those persons and organizations who cooperated to help make this book a success.

A special thanks is due Bud Silvers of El Dorado who provided the antique Buick and the biplane for the "getaway" series photographs.

Some of the thirties costumes were provided through the courtesy of the Butler County Historical Society Museum.

Butler County sheriff, David A. Williams, and undersheriff, Ron Peters, provided the Thompson sub-machine gun and permission for a live technical exercise.

Contributing photographers, in addition to the regular staff photographers, included: Ted McGredy, Bruce Foster, Grant Beckin, Marla Anderson, Mark Hamrich, Greg Vetter, Dick Schmitt, Gary West, Bill Moore, Larry Larson.

Starring in the "getaway" series photographs were Donna Marie C. Parsons, Esther, Grace, DeWanda, and Matt Cannon, Michael, Jeff, and the rest of the cast of THE GRIZZLY.

SPRING
BCCC

THE GETAWAY

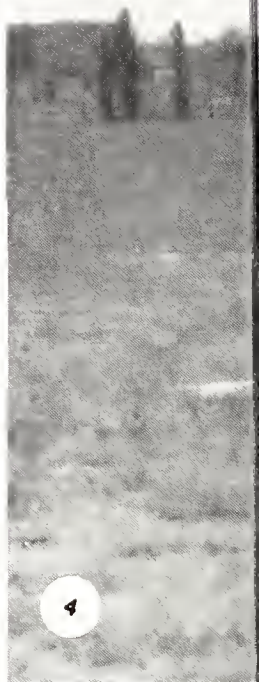

As spring descended on the campus, students became involved in numerous spring "getaway" activities.

One of the most spectacular and exciting of the spring activities — three parachutists, one a BCCC student and the pilot of the plane also a student, landed on the campus at high noon for an end of the year event. Dave Hrdlicka was the 'chutist and Tim Wegenast, the pilot.

Other spring activities included a pillow fight in the gym among students, a spring formal dance attended by students who suddenly discovered their wardrobe consisted of something more than jeans, and intramural basketball, which was the scene of some heavy competition.

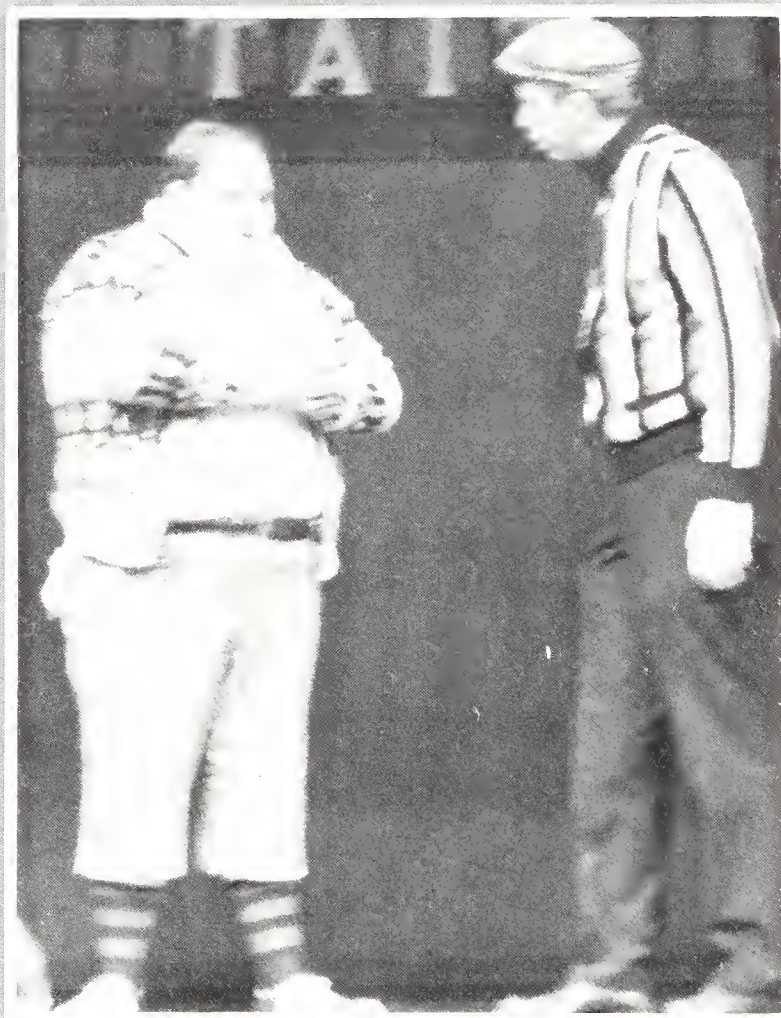

Fiesta Park was the scene of an end of school party that made a "big splash" with students.

Small group, large contribution

A new face at HULL second semester was Tina Ashbury. She replaced Robert Applegate as director of vocal and instrumental music.

The musical program, although small, has contributed greatly to the school.

The band played during the last game of the home games and traveled to Dallas, Texas to play for the team at midnight. They assisted the Jay College Band in the singing contest "Good News." They also provided the music for the afternoon.

The chorus performed for a while. Another highlight for them was when they performed for the Life Enrichment Program.

The students who performed in the Life Enrichment Program were Tina Ashbury, Robert Applegate, and the students of the Life Enrichment Program. They performed a song and a play. Golfers place 4th

Jim Hooten's Butler County Grizzly golf team finished the season placing fourth in the Region VI tournament with a 36-hole total of 659. Butler County's top golfer, Bill Maness, finished sixth in the Region VI Tournament with a 74. Maness was also an alternate for the NJCAA Tournament in Tennessee.

Tom Banwart placed 10th in the Region VI Tournament with a 76. Paul Banwart's low score for 18 holes was a 78 in the Region VI Tournament while Paul Good's low 18-hole total was an 80 at Coffeyville.

The Grizzly Golfers hosted a tournament, held at the El Dorado Country Club.

BCCC baseball, 16-21

Butler County's baseball team finished its first season ever with a 16-21 record. The Grizzlies faced such powerhouse teams as Garden City who was ranked sixth in the nation and Hutchinson and Barton County both of whom were ranked in the top 25 in the nation.

Oral Taylor headed the Grizzly nine who played all their home games at McDonald Stadium.

Three Grizzlies were among the league leaders in statistics. Mark Garcia was second in the league in stolen bases with 25 in 28 attempts. Steve Davis was third in the league in stolen bases with 24 in 26 attempts. Rick Smith led the league in doubles with 15, was fourth in the league in homeruns with six, was fifth in the league in RBI's with 31 and was ninth in the league in batting with a .365 average.
